

Nowoczesna Youth - overview of activities and campaigns

1. We have organized two congresses.
2. Our members are on tv.
3. The Alphabet of the „Good Change” (Law and Justice party elections slogan). We alphabetised the list of strange behaviors and bad acts, which characterize current Polish government.
4. We've created a list of regional high civil servants and people in relations to the ruling party, employed in government enterprises without any experience or professional qualifications, which are needed in the discharge of duties.
5. In light of protests against Polish school reforms, which include abolishing middle schools, we organized a debate in Cracow, in October 2016. Among the guests invited were representatives of the Teachers Union, Parents movement and City Hall.
6. Free Trade flyer campaign - two action days informing about the advantages of the CETA agreement.
7. Teaching minister Gliński economics – a happening, consisting of sending the book "Economics in one lesson" to the Ministry of Culture as a protest against the fixed book prize bill, that was proposed by the minister.
8. Discussion about marijuana.
9. Survey concerning the needs of the residents.
10. Active participation in national protests against the Law and Justice policies.
11. We organized a social media campaign concerning nepotism in state-owned companies (about 8 MLN views). The action was called "Misiewicz", because the last name of the most famous person employed at our Ministry of Defence without any competence is Misiewicz.
12. In the Warmian-Masurian voivodeship the Nowoczesna Youth operate in the city of Elbląg. We expressed our definitive objection to the construction plans in the Old Town. Together with Nowoczesna, we staged a protest to keep the architectural order of Elbląg's Old Town untouched. We also wanted to name a street after the first Prime Minister of the Third Polish Republic - Tadeusz Mazowiecki. Unfortunately, because of a decision of the members of the Law and Justice party in the city council, we failed to accomplish this. Nevertheless we are going to take this initiative once more in the future.
13. Christmas charity fundraising of sweets and necessities for a children care home. - Charity fundraising of animal feed and other animal care products for homeless animals foundations.

Holy Blue Santa:

Christmas charity action held on the town square of Wrocław. By mid-December, just before Christmas, we dressed up as Holy Blue Santa and collected money for children. Many people were very interested in this unusual Santa Claus and asked for a photo. Santa thanked for the donations, gave his best wishes to passerby and handed Christmas cards and candy to children. Thanks to the collected money, we managed to organize activities during the winter holidays for children from deprived families.

14. We have organized a series of meetings concerning customer rights. They were addressed to a wide range of recipients, especially older people. These meetings were open, during which the participants had an opportunity to learn about their rights and find out how to resist entrepreneurs' manipulations. It was especially important for elders, who often become victims of unfair actions of sellers. Further meetings are planned to take place in cities in the whole region.

Planned campaigns:

A conference concerning populism in Europe (last weekend of April), debates concerning current topics and election campaigns
+ monitoring the taxation of civil law contracts, the changes which the current government is proposing and the effect it would have on the younger generation
